

AF5 Study Timetable – September 2024 Exam

- This is YOUR study timetable to keep you on track towards passing the exam.
- We will send you an email every Friday to remind you and keep you on track with what module you are studying in line with the dates below. By spending JUST 15 minutes with us on Friday we WILL make Your Monday 10 Times Easier. When you plan on Fridays, you can get started at the weekend or devote the following Monday morning energy to the work itself.
- The activities within the exam are task-based questions that broadly follow the financial planning process, and this is the structure you will follow with your weekly study plan
- The objective of this exam is to be able to demonstrate and apply knowledge, skill and understanding of holistic financial planning based on a complete client scenario
- We will upload the written model answer for the exam style questions each Tuesday (as outlined below) for you to self-assess. This helps develop your understanding of how to lay out your answers and gain maximum marks in the exam
- Use our financial planning forum to contact our experts. If you have a study question, we will investigate it, find a solution, send you an explanation and help you move forward to achieve your exam goals
